Garment Hanger

electroplated:

Electroplated hanger is a type of garment hanger made from metal frames that have been coated with a thin layer of another metal, usually chrome or nickel, through an electrolytic process. This coating provides a shiny, reflective surface and can be applied to various colors. Electroplated hangers are often used for formal wear and are known for their durability and aesthetic appeal. They are typically more expensive than standard plastic hangers but offer a higher level of quality and style.
